

ExLing 2008 programme

Sunday 24

18-20 Welcome reception and registration

Monday 25

08.00 Registration

08.50 Welcome address
Antonis Botinis

09.00 Oral session 1

Chair: Robert Bannert

09.00 Two sources of voicing neutralization in Lithuanian

OP 01 Rebeka Campos-Astorkiza

09.20 The identification of the place of articulation in coda stops as a function of the preceding vowel: a cross-linguistic study

OP 02 Man-ni Chu, Carlos Gussenhoven and Roeland van Hout

09.40 Tongue movements and syllable onset complexity: ultrasound study

OP 03 Tanja Kocjancic

10.00 "Sounds like a rainbow" - sound-colour mappings in vowel perception

OP 04 Magdalena Wrembel and Karolina Rataj

10.20 Coffee break

10.40 Oral session 2

Chair: Isabel Hub Faria

10.40 Investigations of speech segmentation: addressing the writing bias in language research

OP 05 Victor J. Boucher and Annie C. Gilbert

11.00 Model-based duration analysis on English natives and Thai learners

OP 06 Chatchawarn Hansakunbuntheung, Hiroaki Kato and Yoshinori Sagisaka

11.20 Prosodic variation in L2: a case of Germans speaking English

OP 07 Volha Anufryk, Matthias Jilka and Grzegorz Dogil

11.40 Overspecification in action-oriented discourse: task importance affects the production of overspecifications and

OP 08 overspecifications increase identification efficiency in perception

Anja Arts, Alfons Maes, Leo Noordman and Carel Jansen

12.00 Lunch break

13-16 Poster session 1 (coffee at 14.30)

PP01 Interaction of phonetics, phonology, and sociophonology – illustrated by the vowels of Standard Austrian German

Sylvia Moosmüller

PP02 The effectiveness of auditory phonetic training on Greek native speakers' perception and production of Southern British English vowels

Angelos Lengeris

PP03 Nasometric values for European Portuguese: preliminary results

Isabel Falé and Isabel Hub Faria

PP04 Phoneme classification using the Hartley Phase Spectrum

Ioannis Paraskevas and Maria Rangoussi

PP05 Faster time-aligned phonetic transcriptions through partial automation

Ben Serridge and Luciana Castro

PP06 The effects of the acoustic properties of second language vowel production on pronunciation evaluation

Chris Sheppard

PP07 Factors influencing perceptual attainment of Japanese geminate consonants by Korean learners of Japanese

Mee Sonu

PP08 Receptive and productive skills of English /l/ and /r/ by Japanese college students in relation to their motivation

Yuichi Todaka

PP09 Coarticulation in non-native speakers of English: /əlv/-sequences in non-proficient vs. proficient learners

Henrike Baumotte and Grzegorz Dogil

PP10 Using F2 transition parameters in distinguishing Persian affricates from homorganic consonants

Zahra Mahmoodzade and Mahmoud Bijankhan

PP11 The acquisition of temporal categorical perception by Japanese second language learners

Naoko Kinoshita

PP12 Perception of consonant clusters in Japanese native speakers: influence of foreign language learning

Hinako Masuda and Takayuki Arai

PP13 Phonological free variation in English: an empirical study

Jose A. Mompean

- PP14 Compensatory lengthening in Persian: the timing of non-modal phonation
Vahid Sadeghi
- PP15 “Deep and raspy” or “high and squeaky”: a cross-linguistic study of voice perception and voice labeling
Begoña Payá Herrero
- PP16 Phonetic convergence and language talent within native-nonnative interactions
Natalie Lewandowski, Travis Wade and Grzegorz Dogil
- PP17 A comparison of Taiwanese sign language and manually coded Chinese: word length and short-term memory capacity
Hsiu-Tan Liu, Chin-Hsing Tseng and Chun-Jung Liu
- PP18 Vocal stereotypes
Melanie Weirich
- PP19 Imperatives in European Portuguese: a perception approach
Isabel Falé
- PP20 PENS: a confidence parameter estimating the number of speakers
Siham Ouamour, Mhania Guerti and Halim Sayoud

Tuesday 26

09-00 Oral session 3

Chair: Rebeka Campos-Astorkiza

- 09.00 Rhythmic analysis and quantitative measures: the essence of rhythm as temporal patterning
OP 09 Michela Russo
- 09.20 Classification by discriminant analysis of the energy in view of the detection of accentuated syllable in Standard Arabic
OP 10 Amina Chentir, Mhania Guerti and Daniel Hirst
- 09.40 The influence of top-down expectations on the perception of syllable prominence
OP 11 Denis Arnold and Petra Wagner
- 10.00 The effect of focus on lexical tones in Vietnamese
Stefanie Jannedy

10.20 Coffee break

10.40 Oral session 4

Chair: Jose A. Mompean

- 10.40 Continuation tunes in two central varieties of Italian: phonetic patterns and phonological issues
OP 12 Rosa Giordano
- 11.00 Prosodic perception of sentence types in Greek
Anthi Chaida
- 11.20 Prosodic phrasing in German sentence production: optimal length vs. argument structure
OP 13 Petra Augurzky
- 11.40 Intonation of parentheses in spontaneous French sentences
OP 14 Philippe Martin

12.00 Lunch break

13.00 Panel discussion on prosody

Robert Bannert
Antonis Botinis
Philippe Martin

14-16 Poster session 2 (coffee at 14.30)

- PP01 Stress assignment in Brazilian Portuguese: a usage-based approach
Maria Cantoni
- PP02 Rhythm and stress intervals in Greek and Russian
Antonis Botinis, Marios Fourakis and Olga Nikolaenkova
- PP03 Effects of focus on segmental durations in Greek stressed syllables
Charalambos Themistocleous
- PP04 Word category and prosodic emphasis in dialog modules of speech technology applications
Christina Alexandris
- PP05 Automatic labeling of prosody
Agnieszka Wagner
- PP06 The prosodic and nonverbal deficiencies of French- and Finnish-speaking persons with Asperger Syndrome
Mari Lehtinen
- PP07 The influence of music education and training on SLA
Barbara Pastuszek-Lipińska

- PP08 The role of animacy in the production of Greek relative clauses
Sofia Loui and Silvia P. Gennari
- PP09 Neurolinguistic aspects of metaphor theory
Georgia Andreou and Ioannis Galantomos
- PP10 Does uncertainty effect the case of exhaustive interpretation?
Charlotte Wollermann and Bernhard Schröder
- PP11 Name dominance in spoken word recognition is (not) modulated by expectations: evidence from synonyms
Andrea Weber and Alissa Melinger
- PP12 Discourse markers and L2 listening: do computers make a difference in L2 listening comprehension?
Nuray Alagözlü
- PP13 Saudi accented Arabic voice bank
Mansour Alghamdi, Fayez Alhargan, Mohamed Alkanhal, Ashraf Alkhairy, Munir Eldesouki and Ammar Alenazi
- PP14 Reading mathematical exercises: preliminary results
Deolinda Correia, Isabel Hub Faria and Paula Luegi
- PP15 A new Arabic stemming algorithm
Eiman Tamah AlShammari and Jessica Lin
- PP16 MORPHEMIA: a semi-supervised algorithm for the segmentation of Modern Greek words into morphemes
Constandinos Kalimeris and Stelios Bakamidis
- PP17 Formulaic expressions in language technology
María Fernández-Parra

20.30 Workshop dinner

Wednesday 27

09-00 Oral session 5

Chair: Marios Fourakis

09.00 The temporal structure of professional speaking styles in Brazilian Portuguese

OP 15 Luciana Castro and João Antônio de Moraes

09.20 How are words reduced in spontaneous speech?

Holger Mitterer

09.40 Prosody in read aloud text: relation with information status, content type and boundary strength

OP 16 Hanny den Ouden and Carel van Wijk

10.00 Acoustic model of stress in standard Greek and Greek dialects

OP 17 Anastassia Loukina

10.20 Coffee break

10.40 Oral session 6

Chair: Christoforos Charalambakis

10.40 Priming effect on word reading and recall

OP 18 Isabel Hub Faria and Paula Luegi

11.00 Lexicalization of natural actions and cross-linguistic stability

OP 19 Paul E. Hemeren, Sofia Kasviki and Barbara Gawronska

11.20 Frequency effects in language acquisition: a case study of plural forms in Brazilian Portuguese

OP 20 Thais Cristófaró Silva and Christina Abreu Gomes

11.40 Objective evaluation of second language learner's translation proficiency using statistical translation measures

OP 21 Hajime Tsubaki, Keiji Yasuda, Hirofumi Yamamoto and Yoshinori Sagisaka

12.00 Closing session

Antonis Botinis